MELLON TAX PLAN BEFORE HOUSE

Bill Presented by Head of Ways and Means Committee.

OTHER REPORTS TO FOLLOW

Democrats Demand Lower Tax Rates and Higher Surtax Rates Than Carried by the Majority Members' Measure — Resolution Demanding Resignation of Secretary Denby Holds Attention of the Senate.

Washington, Feb. 11.—The Mellon tax reduction bill was reported to the house today by the ways and means committee.

Debate on the measure is scheduled to begin Thursday, and a big fight is expected. Republican members of the committee will submit three reports and Democratic members one. The latter will demand lower tax rates and higher surtax rates than carried by the bill and additional exemptions. Chairman Green submitted the Republican report, but an additional one will be sent in by the 11 Republicans of the committee who voted for the Mellon rates, arguing more vigorously than the chairman for the maximum surtax rate of 25 per cent. Representative Fear of Wisconsin, Republican insurgent, already has made public another report, in which he urges against any reduction in the surtax rates and for a greater cut in the nominal rates.

Representative Longworth, Republican floor leader in the house, informed President Coolidge that the Mellon surtax rates could not prevail.

The senate today resumed debate on the Robinson resolution, demanding the resignation of Secretary Denby. A vote will be taken this evening. After disposing of the Denby resolution, the senate still will have before it the proposal for an appropriation of $100,000 to defray expense of counsel in the oil cases; the Dill resolution, calling upon the state department for diplomatic correspondence as to negotiations for oil concessions in Colombia, Mesopotamia and many other foreign countries, and the Wheeler resolution demanding the resignation of Attorney General Daugherty.

William G. McAduo appeared before the senate investigating committee and told the circumstances under which he became counsel for the Doheny oil companies in relation to their Mexican affairs. He elaborated on his letter to the committee, in which he stated that his employment had no connection whatever with the leases of naval reserves in Wyoming and California.

The senate inquirers plan to quiz J. Leo Stack of Denver, Colo., regarding the contract Harry P. Sinclair entered into with him and Frederick G. Bonfils, publisher of the Denver (Colo.) Post, for the payment of $1,000,000 in settlement of the claims against subsidiaries of the Standard Oil company of Indiana in Teapot Dome, to which Sinclair has testified he has paid $1,000,000. Mr. Bonfils Saturday explained that Stack had contracts with the Midwest and Pioneer Oil companies under which he was to undertake to obtain the lease of Teapot Dome. He charged that these companies, E. L. Doheny and Sinclair had entered into a conspiracy under which Sinclair was to get the Teapot Dome reserve and Doheny the California reserve.

BIG INCREASE SHOWN

Rents 80 Per Cent Higher Now Than Before the World War.

New York, Feb. 11.—A statement issued by the national industrial conference board says rents for low and medium-priced houses and apartments throughout the United States now average approximately 80 per cent higher than before the world war. Within the past year rents increased an average of 8 per cent, but between July and November this dropped to 3 per cent. The board's estimates, the result of a survey made in connection with its investigation of living costs, are based on reports from 181 cities, including most of the municipalities having a population of 50,000 or more. In 96 cities rents did not change between July and November last, in 63 there were increases, while in 22 rents went down.

OPPOSE BRAND BILL

Ohio Engineering Society Says It Would Menace Intercounty Roads.

Columbus, Feb. 11.—The Ohio Engineering society adopted resolutions unanimously opposing any proposed legislation by congress under which the entire amount of federal aid appropriations for highways in Ohio would be met by appropriations from the state treasury. Such legislation has been proposed by Congressman Brand of the Seventh district. The society is opposed to Mr. Brand's proposal on the ground that it would "disrupt the system of financing federal aid projects in the state and would jeopardize the completion of the intercounty highway system."

The society also adopted resolutions favoring the financing of a three-year federal aid program beginning July 1, 1925, which would give the state $1,000,000 each year; the establishment of a highway police system to enforce laws regarding motor vehicles; endorsing the work of the Ohio Good Roads federation and its publication, Highway Topics; advocating the removal of the state highway department from politics; a four-year term for county engineers and a gasoline tax. E. A. Lawrence of this city is president of the engineering society.

SURVEY COMPLETED BY JULIUS BARNES

General Business Reported to Be Advancing.

Chicago, Feb. 11.—Julius H. Barnes, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, announced that manufacturing and general business seems to be advancing throughout the nation with some measure of earnings on the right side. Mr. Barnes and others of the organization have completed a trip designed to investigate sectional conditions and needs from a national standpoint.

"The area of distress centers in certain few industries, cattle raising, copper mining and single crop grain raising," Mr. Barnes said. "The cattle industry shows signs of recovery, with southwestern ranges in promising condition; copper mining needs the return to stable conditions in Europe to restore it to full activity and diversified farming is replacing single crop raising," according to his report.

"Cotton and dairy farming are enjoying a fair measure of actual prosperity. The oil industry seems to have passed its worst stage of depressing over-production, and is on the upgrade.

"Banking in unfavorable agricultural areas is passing through a time of stress, but where they have weathered the storm a greatly rising tide of American annual earnings will yet rebuild their fortunes."

Dean of Pontifical Court Honored.

Rome, Feb. 11.—Pope Pius received Rinaldo Jacchini, dean of the pontifical court, who is 79 years old and has been 60 years in the service of the vatican. Jacchini began his service at the age of 19 as an outrider for Pope Pius IX and rose to the position of postillion, which position he still holds. On Sept. 19, 1870, on the eve of the fall of the temporal power, Jacchini drove Pius IX for the last time through the streets of Rome. From that day no pope has left the vatican.

SITUATION TENSE AT HERRON

Additional Troops Ordered to Illinois Town.

CHICAGO COMPANY ON WAY

Chief of Police Ford Taken Back to Herron From Belleville by Group of Deputies—Sheriff Galligan Under Arrest Charged With the Murder of Constable Cagle—Martial Law Declaration Expected by Military.

Marion, Ill., Feb. 11.—The situation at Herron, Ill., where a constable was shot and killed and a deputy wounded Friday night, is still tense and additional state troops have been ordered to the scene.

The 132d infantry of the Illinois militia entrained at Chicago early this morning and will reach Herron this afternoon. This will bring the total of state troops in Herron and the whole of Williams county to 1,700.

John Ford, chief of police, and Harold Crain, a patrolman, were taken back to Herron from Belleville, Ill., by a group of S. Glenn Young's deputized citizens. Young declared Sheriff George Galligan, now under arrest, charged with the murder of Constable Caesar Cagle, kidnapped the officers and spirited them away to Murphysboro, in an adjacent county. Galligan said he took the men away for their own safety after they had charged a meeting of the Knights of the Planning Circle, an anti-klan organization, at Rome hall, last Thursday night. The shooting, as a sequel to this clash, resulted in the death of Cagle and the serious wounding of John Layman, one of Galligan's deputies.

As Galligan was returning from Murphysboro, en route to Marion, he was arrested at Carbondale by Chief of Police Carl Adams. He was brought to Herron by a number of special police, and in the presence of Young telephoned Sheriff White at Murphysboro to release Ford and Crain. Instead of White releasing the two officers, Young declared, White's deputies took them to Belleville, Ill., in Clair county. They were found there by about 50 of Young's men after a search, and returned to Herron.

A declaration of martial law is expected by the military.

Five thousand people attended the funeral of Constable George Cagle, Rev. I. E. Lee, pastor of the church, and Rev. P. R. Glotfelty, alleged klan leaders, conducted the services.

DAY COMPILES FIGURES

Cost State of Ohio $13,000,000 to Operate During January.

Columbus, Feb. 11.—According to figures compiled by State Treasurer Harry S. Day, it cost the state of Ohio $3,016,844.07 to operate its government during the month of January. Disbursements for the first month in 1924 were slightly lower than for the same period in 1923, but are higher than January of 1922, a comparison shows.

In January, 1923, the state spent $3,035,170.30, while the same month of the previous year cost the state but $2,437,469.82, according to the records of the state treasury. Principal disbursements last month was in the general revenue fund which paid out a total of $1,854,888.19, a figure considerably less than for the same month the previous year. Disbursements from the general revenue fund in 1923 amounted to $2,014,419.63, while in 1922 the amount of this fund was $1,581,607.25.

The greatest jump of any fund during January was that of the education building fund, which disbursed $119,605.22. In January, 1923, the state spent $23,445.95 on educational buildings, while in 1922 it cost but $3,189.94. This great increase was caused by the buildings operations at Ohio State university, according to treasury officials.

FEDERAL TROOPS ROUT REBELS

Eleven-Hour Battle Fought at Ocotlan, Mexico.

LOSSES HEAVY ON BOTH SIDES

Number of Federal Officers Killed After the Storming of the Rebel Trenches—Three Hundred Casualties Suffered by the Federals, According to President Obregon's Report—Rebel Cavalry to the Rescue.

Washington, Feb. 11.—Advices received here from Mexico describe the defeat of Mexican rebel forces by the federal troops.

The engagement was fought at Ocotlan and heavy losses were sustained by both sides. The battle raged for 11 hours and ended when the rebels raised the white flag and asked for a conference.

A number of officers were killed during the crossing of the river, after the storming of the rebel trenches, it was stated. After crossing the river the federal forces successfully attacked the rebel positions at Ocotlan.

President Obregon sent the following description of the battle: "The battle lasted 11 hours without any truce. It was impossible to give an estimate of the losses suffered by the enemy, because the fighting ended over a very extensive area. Our troops suffered 300 casualties in dead and wounded, because the crossing of the river was over an improvised bridge and the subsequent assault had to be done under rebel fire. Rebel cavalry is on the way here, perhaps hoping to protect their forces, but our cavalry also is marching parallel to the rebels, and if they do not refuse battle the traitors will realize the worth of soldiers who know how to fulfill their duties and defend their military honor."

FOUR UNDER ARREST

Charged With Theft of Bonds Valued at $106,000.

New York, Feb. 11.—Charged with the theft of $106,000 worth of negotiable bonds from the brokerage firm of Herzfeld & Stern, four persons were arrested here. One of the prisoners, Romeo Forini, 40, is alleged to have directed the bond theft and to have negotiated the entire transaction. The others arrested were Max Kaplan, 23; Max Bauman, 19, and a boy of 17, who, under the name of Jack Lombardo, obtained a job as messenger for the bond house two weeks ago and made off with the bonds. Lombardo told the police Forini had been instrumental in obtaining the bond messenger position for him. It also was Forini, he told the police, who had directed him to make off with the bonds when he was handed them for delivery to a number of brokerage offices.

The committee will inform the reparations commission that in his opinion the plan it proposes should be put into prompt operation. The members of the committee will have a further conference with Dr. Schacht in Paris on the 18th instant. Dr. Schacht informed the experts that in his opinion the proposed bank, when put into operation, will contribute materially toward the definite stabilization of the currency and balancing the budget.

RESTRICTION MORE RIGID

Immigration Bill's Features Outlined by Chairman Johnson.

Washington, Feb. 11.—A report on the immigration bill has been filed by Chairman Johnson of the house immigration committee in which he states that the present 3 per cent law, based on the 1910 census, expires June 30 next, and that there was "immediate and urgent need for enactment of immigration legislation." He continues:

"The committee is advised that the number of aliens desiring to enter the United States is very large. It is reasonable to assume that, despite unfavorable exchange rates, high steamship tariffs and other untoward factors, an immigration of between 1,500,000 and 2,000,000 would have entered the United States during each of the past two years if the 3 per cent law had not barred the way. If the 3 per cent law is permitted to expire, and if no other legislation is enacted, the movement to our shores of the largest migration of peoples in the history of the world may be expected to begin July 1, 1924. The exclusion clauses of the act of Feb. 5, 1917, will be powerless to stay the tide. Such a situation should not be permitted to arise. The country demands the restriction of immigration. The public demand is not only for restriction, but for more rigid and more effective restriction than that imposed at present."

The new bill contains more rigid restriction than the present act. It would change the quota base from the census of 1910 to the census of 1890, and reduce the percentage from 3 to 2, plus a small base quota for each country.

Representative Dickstein of New York, Democrat, a member of the immigration committee, declared the bill "would inflict great wrong upon thousands of citizens of America." "It creates among the Hungarians, the Czech-Slovaks, Serbians and Jews of eastern Europe the sense of inferiority," he said.

ALASKA WILL GROW OWN FARM PRODUCE

U. S. to Make Region Yield Fresh Vegetables, Etc.

Washington, D. C.—Gold, forests, fish and fur for long years were Alaska's only real important assets, but now we read in reports of the several agricultural experiment stations that real progress is being made in developing the agricultural resources of our farthest north possession. It is not the hope of the United States Department of Agriculture to make the soil of this region produce in great abundance, but there is good reason to believe that much of the food being shipped in can be grown there and that better supplies of fresh vegetables, fruit, and milk can be provided.

The government and settlers are growing cattle, sheep and goats. After some trials with different breeds hogs are being bred and raised successfully. Attempts are being made to cross the yak and common cattle just as has been done in central Asia for many years. The hardy, rustling, heavy-haired Galloways have been found admirably suited to the southwestern part of the territory, and this breed with the Holstein-Friesian is being used to produce reciprocal crosses which, it is hoped, will result in a hardy dairy type.

Hardy Grains Do Well.

Especially hardy strains of grains do well in the interior during most seasons, according to the report, and when the summer is wet or frosts come too soon the crops can be made into hay or silage. Tests are being made of promising varieties of spring wheat, and some work is being done with winter wheat, although there is little reason to believe that this type can equal spring wheat. Barley is the most promising stock grain as it matures much earlier than either spring wheat or oats, the latter being used almost entirely for hay. Hybridization experiments are being made on all these grains in an effort to develop higher-yielding and hardier varieties.

It is predicted that legumes are destined to play an important role in Alaskan agriculture as they are useful for hay and pasture and for soil improvement. Most of the alfalfas lack sufficient hardiness for this climate, even some of the Siberian varieties and Grimm, but a yellow-flowered kind, Medicago falcata, sent from the department experimental fields in 1909, has survived the hard winters. Next in importance is a perennial vetch. The common clovers have been tried and found wanting, but red clover is of value as an annual crop sown early in May and cut for hay or plowed under late in August. Early-maturing field peas promise to be an important crop in the interior. Sweet clover has failed.

Silo Solves Winter Feeding.

Winter feed is a big problem for Alaska farmers, but the silo is helping them solve it. Oats with peas or vetch makes good silage, as do also some of the native grasses, especially wild rye and a tall sedge. Among the tame grasses smooth brome grass is the best.

The garden helps greatly in making life enjoyable, for many of the common vegetables are now grown successfully in all parts of the territory south of "the circle." "Alaska produces as fine potatoes as can be found in any country," says the report, and they are successfully grown in all parts of the territory, even far north of the Arctic circle, in favorable seasons.

Improved hardy varieties have been developed and are being grown. Hardy hybrid strawberries of good quality produced by the experiment stations are now widely grown in some sections as a commercial crop. Currants, gooseberries, and raspberries are other fruits which may be successfully grown. Alaska has scarcely any native ornamental shrubs and efforts are being made to find suitable ones of sufficient hardiness. The best one tried so far is Rosa rugosa, the Japanese rose, which seems to be hardy in all parts of the region.

Old Mural Paintings

Discovered in Palace

Warsaw.—During the restoration of the Warsaw royal palace, dating from 1602, beautiful mural paintings of the eighteenth century have been discovered hidden beneath papers and tapestries put on the walls during the Russian occupation of Warsaw. The paintings are of the Italian school and of great artistic value. Every endeavor is being made to restore them completely. No clue yet has been found as to the identity of the painter.

Honeymoon Halted

Washington.—A newly married couple abandoned their honeymoon because their automobile had been stolen. The disappointed bride and bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Haddon. The bride until a few days ago was Miss Mildred Reynolds of Petersburg, Va. They motored here with their friend, J. Spivey. The party went to a motion picture theater, leaving their car parked nearby. It was gone when they looked for it. A laprobe, valued at $75, and a wedding present were in the car when it was stolen.

Origin of the Jazz Band.
The jazz band idea, according to a French paper, originated in the time of the Directory. At the concerts of the Cat orchestra were twenty cats, heads in a row on the keyboard of a harpsichord. The performer by striking the keys pulled the cats' tails, causing a caterwauling which sounded like a jazz band.

TO SAVE LIVES OF PEDESTRIANS

This new bumper is being tested by the Chicago safety council in its efforts to cope with the deadly results of "speedmanias." By means of a mechanical device the driver is able to drop the bumper as a fender and a furled apron is extended upward at the same time, thus making a canvas hammock on the front of the automobile which literally scoops the unfortunate victim into it and carries him along unhurt until the car can be brought to a stop. Photograph shows the new bumper as it looks when opened and picks up the endangered pedestrian unhurt and carries him along.

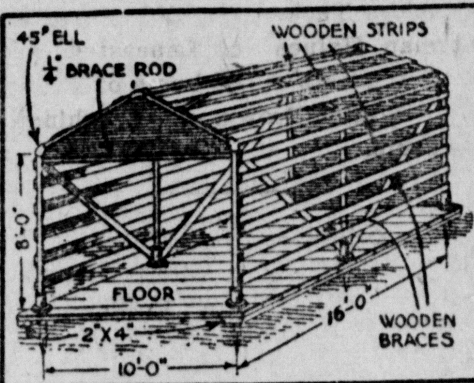

PIPE SUPPORTS SIMPLE GARAGE

Solution of Serious Problem for Man Who Is Constantly Moving Around.

The garage question is a serious proposition for many men who do not own their own homes or who are compelled by their business to move from place to place. After building five garages in as many towns or locations, I designed two knock-down or portable garages and constructed the one illustrated, writes R. C. Liebe in the Popular Science Monthly.

The framework consists of 3/4-in. galvanized pipe and fittings. There are three separate frames, one on each end and one in the middle. The pipe is thoroughly braced with wooden strips bolted on with stove bolts.

Holes 3-16 in. in diameter are drilled in the posts and roof sections about 14 in. apart throughout, and 4-in. dressed wooden strips are bolted on to form the sheathing. The roof is covered with heavy tar paper, and the sides and ends with 8-oz. tenting. The duck is then given a coat of auto top dressing, so that the color of the garage throughout is black.

Garage Frame Made With Pipe and Fittings.

With a helper I can make this garage ready for my car in several hours, and it takes even less time to pull it down and pack it up in bundles for shipment.

The piping required for a garage 10 ft. wide, 8 ft. high and 16 ft. long consists of six posts 8 ft. long, six "rafters" 6 ft. long, and nine 45-degree ells. For a Ford car the garage can be 1 ft. less both in length and width.

The diagram is practically self explanatory. The builder can brace the garage as much as he thinks necessary to meet weather conditions. Iron spikes driven into the ends of the posts and then set into the ground serve to anchor the structure. If a wooden floor is to be used, a sufficient number of sleepers should be laid to support the heavy planking.

Each of the three pipe frames is held together by a 1/4-in. rod bolted through the posts and tightened from the outside. Canvas curtains can be hung on this rod to form the cheapest kind of door, or other doors, which are pipe frames covered with canvas or wooden strips and tar paper or both, can be used.

AUTOMOBILE GOSSIP

More tires are worn out in August than in any other single month.

Crank or crankshaft misalignment will also cause improper meshing of gear teeth.

Retarding the spark to slow down the speed of an engine causes carbon formation.

A motorist will save dollars in tire expense, if he will coast to a stop, employing his brakes very gradually.

HARDEST USE GIVEN TIRES IN SUMMER

Inspection Necessary Before Tours Are Started.

Not only during the warm months is the average passenger car driven at least twice as far daily as in the winter season, but it usually is driven very much faster. For these reasons tires are subjected to more severe service, and troubles with them come very much closer together, in point of time, during this period of heavy driving, which calls for a careful inspection and revision of the equipment before long distance trips and vacations are to be made.

In considering the stock of tires on hand the mileage already delivered by each and its age form the best guides as to what future service may be expected of it. Knowing how far a certain tire has run and subtracting this distance from the average mileage obtained from similar tires on the same car gives the most dependable guess as to its "expectancy"—to borrow a term from the life insurance man.

A useful check upon any such estimate is obtainable from its appearance, and an expert tire man, if he has a casing off, so that a thorough examination is possible, may make some quite accurate predictions, but much less can be learned from inspecting a casing on the wheel.

If the tread has cut through it in places which have been long neglected and have begun to raise sand blisters; if there are any swellings in the surface or any indications of approaching failure along the side walls, no great dependence for future service should be placed in it, but if the tread is practically perfect, barring normal wear, and no signs of weakness are apparent, the casing can be relied upon for the additional mileage indicated by service previously rendered and past experience.

The chief reason for estimating the expected mileage that remains in the casings on the wheels is in order to provide requisite spare tire equipment, it going without saying that the extra casings carried must be more numerous and of better quality if the tires in service are old and worn than as if they are all new.

RESPONSIBLE FOR BLOWOUTS

Difficulty Often May Be Traced Back for Months When Casing Received Hard Jolt.

It is not always easy to trace the cause of a blowout. The tire may have been kept carefully inflated at the proper figure, tread cuts filled and beads watched, yet the casing gives out.

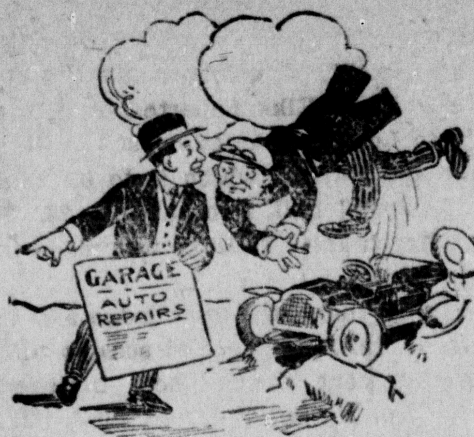

More often than not difficulty of this kind must be traced back for months when the casing received a severe blow, weakening the fabric structure and then, as time wears on, the entire casing becomes affected and blows out when least expected.

LENSES GET OUT OF FOCUS

Vibration May Loosen Glasses in Their Rims and Diffusing Properties Are Lost.

Many of the light-diffusing devices now popular are designed to operate when in a certain fixed position. Vibration may loosen the glasses in their rims so that the whole lens creeps around and the diffusing properties are lost. Some of these glasses have a means of anchoring them firmly in place, but others have not, and it is up to the car owner to see that they are properly in place. Screws may be used for fastening them, and a lock washer should be inserted under each of them.

BIG DELEGATION

Goes to Logan to Boost Elks' Big Bazaar to be Held at Memorial Hall.

At one o'clock today a delegation of twenty-five members of Circleville lodge No. 77, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, departed from this city to Logan, Ohio, to boost the Elks Fair and Bazaar, which is to be held at Memorial hall, February 27, 28, 29 and March 1st. The trip was made in automobiles.

The brothers of Logan lodge are to hold an initiation, social session and entertainment for the local brethren this evening at their spacious club rooms in Logan, Ohio.

This is the fourth city to be visited by the members of the local organization, as visits have been paid heretofore to Columbus, Chillicothe and Newark.

It is the aim and purpose of No. 77 to extend a hearty welcome to all brother Elks of the neighboring lodges and special carloads of visitors from the above named lodges will attend the fair.

The officers and brothers of the local chapter have been royally entertained during these visits and they hope to repay these same brothers for the kindnesses and courtesies shown them when they in turn visit Old Roundtown.

SOCIAL CALENDAR

The Woman's Missionary society, of the Reformed church at Stoutsville, was hostess to the Girls' Guild and the Mission Band on Thursday evening, when a sumptuous banquet, commemorating the tenth anniversary of the Girls' Missionary society of the Reformed church of America, was served.

The Girls' Guild, of Stoutsville, was organized one year ago by Miss Alma Lake, national organizer, with Mrs. E. A. Allen, as counsellor, and Miss Kathryn Sanders, as president. After the removal of these officers to Circleville, Mrs. Eugene Myers became counsellor and Miss Isabelle Gearhart, president.

Fifty guests gathered about the table in the dining room, which was decorated with the guild colors, blue and gold. A sunburst of blue and gold in the center of the table was carried to the chandelier. Beautiful hand-painted cards in blue and gold, the work of Mrs. E. V. Barr, had been prepared and a beautifully decorated birthday cake, its ten candles carrying out the tenth anniversary idea. The candles were extinguished by girls of the guild, each offering an appropriate greeting or prayer.

Mrs. Eugene Myers, a most gracious hostess, was toastmistress, with Mrs. C. V. Baker, Mrs. R. S. Beaver, Rev. Beaver, also Evangelist Beaver and Miss Winifred Huddle as speakers. Songs yells and good wishes added zest to the occasion.

The four course dinner consisted of fruit cocktail with wafers, creamed chicken, mashed potatoes, peas, gravy, hot rolls, strawberry preserve, Waldorf salad, ice cream and coffee. After the benediction, the whole party marched to the auditorium and occupied space reserved for them that they might enjoy the evangelistic services.

Mr. William J. Rindsfoos, of Columbus, formerly of this city, was married Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock to Miss Virginia Hardesty Millsbaugh at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Martin L. Millsbaugh, 851 Bryden Road, Columbus. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. S. S. Palmer, pastor of Broad street Presbyterian church. Mrs. Leonard G. Latham played a program of wedding music. Baskets of spring flowers decorated the house. In the living room there was an altar arrangement of white roses and greenery, while yellow roses trimmed the bride's table in the dining room. The bride, who was unattended, wore a frock of beige lace over crepe de chine, a brown lace hat and a corsage of orchids and yellow roses. Mr. and Mrs. Rindsfoos left for a trip to the West Indies. They will live in Columbus on their return. Mr. Rindsfoos is president of the Brunson Building & Loan Co. He is a son of Mrs. Samuel Rindsfoos, 1117 East Broad street, Columbus. Among the guests at the wedding were Miss Elizabeth Conklin, of Baltimore, Maryland; Mrs. Louis Ladd, of Cleveland, and Mrs. Roderick Donaldson, of Montclair, New Jersey. Mrs. Millsbaugh, mother of the bride entertained members of the family and out of town guests at dinner Friday at the Maramor.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Drum entertained to dinner Sunday the following: E. E. Kreachbaum of Van Wert; Mrs. J. H. Nesbit of Zanesville and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Drum of this city.

Roman Generals Liked
Spring Mineral Water

The Romans, who knew much about external and internal cleanliness that was forgotten after the downfall of their power, attached the greatest importance to the drinking of mineral water. At Aix-les-Thermes, for instance, in the Pyrenees, the waters were used by the Roman conquerors, and St. Louis had a pond built there for the use of Crusaders who returned from the Holy Land stricken with leprosy. This pond is still in existence.

It was in the Nineteenth century, however, that Aix-les-Thermes was adapted to modern needs and became a popular resort. Its waters contain sodium sulphide and are very beneficial for rheumatism and gout.

In this country the term "thermal"
is not in wide use, one seldom hearing the term "thermal resort" applied to places where persons go to take a "cure." In Europe, on the other hand, the word is in common use, and a thermal resort is recognized as a place whose waters possess certain healing and health-giving properties, and which has also been developed to take proper care of those who repair for a cure or to enjoy a period of rest and recreation.—Detroit News.

Origin of Angora Cat.

The Angora cat came originally from Angora and has a small head, and rather large tufted ears; the long silky hair should hang in tufts and clusters, shortening toward the end of the tail. The colors are varied, but black and dark slate colored ones with orange eyes, or blues and white with light eyes, are most valued. The Persian is also long haired, but is larger in body and the fur is coarser and increases toward the end of the long tail. The color may be almost any, but deep black with orange eyes is preferable; blue is, the next best color.

Battles and Rains.

There is a reason why rain is more likely to occur after a battle, and that is the movement of troops that precedes a battle must generally be carried on in fair weather, as dry roads are an important factor in such movements. As these preliminaries often take several days the end of a dry spell of average duration is quite likely to be reached by the time the engagement is fairly begun, and rain will then be due in accordance with the normal program of nature. The battle does not cause the rain.

Cause of Gooseflesh.

Gooseflesh is the contraction of the little muscles, called arrector papillae, which are found penetrating the bulbs in the skin at the base of every hair on the human body. These muscles are contracted in response to nervous impulses from the "sympathetic" nervous system. It has always been thought that only exposure to cold or nervous shock could cause gooseflesh, but recent experiments show that if a person plunges the lower half of the body suddenly into pleasantly warm water gooseflesh will appear.

Origin of Word Huzzar.

The word huzzar was first applied to the light cavalry troops raised by Matthias Corvinus in 1458 to fight against the Turks. The word was derived from a Magyar word, "huzz," meaning twenty, the method of selection being every twentieth man in the community. The term huzzar was adopted by a regiment of British cavalry in 1805, and has since then been applied to certain bodies of light cavalry in many countries.

DUFFY TO AID OF EX-SERVICE MEN

It was through the efforts of Francis Ryan Duffy, national vice-commander of the American Legion, that the veterans' organization began to learn much of the condition of mental abnormality of many ex-service men in penal institutions of the nation, which had led to preparations for an extensive survey of such prisoners, with a view to proper care and treatment of such unfortunates.

The attention of Gov. John J. Blaine of Wisconsin was called to the fact that many ex-service men were imprisoned in the penitentiaries of his state, when they should rightfully be receiving treatment in mental institutions, not incarcerated for crimes their condition of mind had led them to commit.

Duffy was department commander of the American Legion when the state executive began his survey, which determined that 60 per cent of the ex-service men held as prisoners were mentally abnormal and that 20 per cent of these were sufferers from disabilities traceable to war service. The Legion man interested himself in the project, and through the aid of Governor Blaine and other state officials carried on a strong fight for the direction of these men to proper institutions, which course for the most part has been highly successful. This survey caused the adoption of a resolution by the national executive committee of the Legion directing its officials to begin a survey of all federal prisons.

Duffy was born in Fond du Lac, Wis., June 23, 1888, and that city is still his home. He is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, and is a practicing attorney-at-law in his home city, serving as commissioner of the Circuit court.

He was commissioned in the Officers' Reserve corps in February 1917, and was assigned to the motor transport section. He was the first professional or business man to leave Fond du Lac for service at the outbreak of war. While in service he was assistant motor transportation officer in base section 1, A. E. F., and was promoted to the rank of major in October, 1918. At one time he was on special duty in the advance section between Chateau-Thierry and Fismes, in connection with the motor transport corps. He left the service in May, 1919.

The new vice-commander of the Legion served as a member of the state executive committee in 1921 and 1922. On August 26, 1922, he was elected department commander to succeed Edward J. Barrett who was named national vice-commander in 1922. The post of department commander in Wisconsin carried with it membership in the national executive committee, and it was there that Mr. Duffy's work for the men in prison was first heard. Following in Barrett's footsteps, the Fond du Lac man passed through the post of department commander, to be elected to the national office at San Francisco.

Hope to Aid Indians

The Indian ex-service men are proving difficult to handle, according to recent reports furnished American Legion officials in South Dakota and other western states, by investigators of the veterans' bureau. Many of these men were wounded, but when they return to the reservations nothing is ever heard of claims for hospitalization, compensation, or treatment. Recently Legion officials and representatives of the veterans' bureau inspected reservations in the West and found that a majority of the Indians who served in the World war are compensable, but many are not now receiving government aid. One report indicates that out of one hundred and fifty examined, practically one-third were afflicted with trachoma, a contagious disease of the eye. Legion officials in such states expect to extend their relief work to aid these men.

Purchase Burial Plots

Four plots of ground in one of the city cemeteries have been purchased by Argonne post No. 20 of the American Legion, to be used as a burying ground for Legionnaires without family or whose families are not in a position to purchase a plot. The post also decided to procure from the government headstones which are furnished free of cost to former service men.

HEADQUARTERS FIFTH CORPS AREA

Office of the C. M. T. C. Officer, Fort Hayes, Columbus, Ohio.

Geo. M. Fitzpatrick, Circleville, Ohio.

My dear Mayor:

The 1924 Citizens' Military Training Camp in this Corps Area, comprising the four states of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia, will be held for a period of 30 days at Camp Knox, Ky., commencing July 2nd.

As you are probably aware, similar camps have been held during the summers of 1921, 1922 and 1923, and have proven to be a great success, more than 6,000 young men in this corps area alone having attended.

It is desired to afford every eligible young man an opportunity to take advantage of this training, which has for its air the physical, mental and moral upbuilding of the youth of our country. Our quota of applications for this year is 5,300 which should make it possible for us to accept for enrollment every eligible young man who submits an application.

It is desired that every county in your state be represented at this summer's camp, and I am therefore going to ask you to make recommendations covering your locality by filling in on the enclosed form the names and addresses of young men whom you can recommend as being of the right type and eligible for attendance. The age limits are 16½ and 24. We especially desire the names of young men who have not previously attended a Citizens' Military Training Camp.

The campaign for applicants will open April 1st. Application blanks will probably not be available before that date, but as soon as they are received, a blank will be sent to each young man recommended by you, together with detailed information concerning the camp.

Your co-operation in sending us names of eligible young men in your locality will be deeply appreciated. This is a fine movement, Mr. Mayor, one of the greatest opportunities this generous Government has ever offered the youth of our country.

In replying, please use the enclosed self-addressed envelope which requires no postage.

JOHN S. SULLIVAN,
Major D. O. L. (Infantry), C. M. T. Officer.

Any young man desiring to make application to the Citizens' Military Training Camp, if they will leave their name and address with me, I will be glad to forward the same to the address above. Respt.,
Geo. M. Fitzpatrick, Mayor.

GOOD WORK STARTED

Too many searched the scriptures to find the text of Sunday evening service yet the dollar remains with the pastor. Our findings however will be stated later. This we will state now that the study of the use of words would be fine exercise for our school children and I would suggest to such as are interested Greenville Kleiser's "Personal Mail Course in Practical English."

I wish to thank those who were interested enough to try.

Monday evening the subject; "The Great Question of the Ages."

Tuesday evening; "Is Christianity Static or Progressive; if Static, Why? If Progressive, How?"

You will notice these are challenging subjects and chosen because we are living in challenging days and I challenge every man, woman and child within a radius of ten miles of the church to give heed to such things for we are failing to produce men of such character, who, as custodians of large sums of money and property interests, are not apt to be lured away. These things thru which we are passing are not political but moral and wrong.

Meetings every night except Saturday at 7:30 sun time.

AGAINST FORD OFFER

Minority Report Submitted to House Attacks McKenzie Bill.

Washington, Feb. 11.—A minority report submitted by members of the house military committee opposes acceptance of Henry Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals plants as authorized by the McKenzie bill, now before the house. Comparing the Ford offer with that of the Southern Power company, but without specifically indicating any of the four proposals which have been made for operation of the Muscle Shoals plants, the report declares that acceptance of the Detroit manufacturer's bid would amount "to a gift of enormous property and unusual advantages to a private citizen from the resources of the United States." The power company's proposal as compared with the Ford bid, it says, offers "savings to the government amounting to $34,218,000 for 50 years and $75,660,000 for 100 years."

The report says the McKenzie measure gives Mr. Ford a "loophole" to "quit the manufacture of fertilizer if it should not prove profitable." Furthermore, it contends no one is in a position to know from any statement of Mr. Ford, or any accredited representative, whether he would accept the properties on the terms offered him in the pending bill.

Alleged Plot Discovered.

Buenos Ayres, Feb. 11.—The Bolivian police have discovered a revolutionary conspiracy and arrested the instigators. The revolution was set to begin in the early days of February, with the assassination of the Bolivian president, Bautista Saavedra, and other officials.

Italian Pact Ratified.

Rome, Feb. 11.—The Russian soviet government, in a communication to the Italian government, announces that it ratified the recent Italo-Russian treaty of commerce. The ceremony was filmed, as it was desired that the event be shown in the moving picture houses throughout Russia. The communication adds that the soviet government would like to obtain the film production of the signing of the treaty by Premier Mussolini in Rome.

Would Raise Standard of Butter.

Columbus, Feb. 11.—As a part of the movement to raise the standard of butter in Ohio, the Ohio Association of Creamery Owners and Managers will this week organize Henry county. As soon as stations are established there, the work will be taken up in surrounding counties. Preliminary plans were effected at a meeting of creamery owners, field men and creamery operators at Napoleon a few days ago, with P. E. Bacon, who is in charge of this branch of the state association's activities. Probably 25 stations will be set up in Henry county and an effort will be made to obtain the best cream, with deliveries every four days.

Hotel Stenographer BY ROE FULKERSON

"There is no use going to see 'Ham let' or there isn't a ham in it," said the Hotel Stenographer emphatically.

"You like ham?"

The House Detective didn't catch her drift.

"Yes," said the girl.

"But, Kelly, you muffed me. I was not talking about things to eat, but about a party. My fool friend, Peggy is getting up a mixed party at her house tomorrow night. She wants me to come, but has not provided a man for me.

"A party without a man is like a goldfish without a globe. It dies on you.

"A good looking girl, who goes to a party without a man, has to choose between a wallflower, or getting into trouble with some other skirt.

"I do not sit around without men when men are present. If I go to Peggy's party, I will have some guy buzzing around me, thus making some other girl unhappy, and making the man explain to her all the way home. "I may not have the fatal gift of beauty, Kelly, but there is a 'come hither' air about me that men find irresistible, and no clover blossom can be mad, if it's perfume attracts the bee, can it?"

"The thing for me to do is to stay at home and let the party ride for Sweeney, and not make any enemies, I say."

"It's funny that no guy wants to take you to the party," remarked the House Detective.

"Kelly," answered the girl "you are trying to make me feel bad, but not getting away with it. Didn't I tell you that Peggy was giving the party. Girls, who have to give parties to get men around them, haven't any men to send after girl guests. I don't give parties. People give 'em to me and when they stop, I will climb on the shelf, pin a sign 'antique in good condition' on myself and quit the game."

Locate Leaks

An automatic leak indicator for ships consists of a number of small cast-iron boxes screwed to the bulkhead of each compartment and set at predetermined distances, one above another. In each box there is an electrical contrivance connected with an indicator board, either on the bridge or in some other convenient place. The board is fitted with a number of small glow lamps of different colors, and is connected with an alarm bell. When water rises to the level of the lowest box it makes an electrical contact, by which the lamp corresponding to the height of the bulkhead that the box indicates is lighted and so remains until the next box is reached by the water, when the second lamp is lighted. Meanwhile the bell rings continuously until shut off.

Poverty and Temperance.

No man can be brave who considers pain to be the greatest evil of life, nor temperate who considers pleasure to be the highest good.

The Still Small Voice.

Temptation has a still small voice. The Conscience and they often hold a debate much to a man's inner disturbance.

Giant Waterspout Recorded.

A Washington scientist has recorded the particulars concerning a great waterspout he observed south of Cape Cod on a day when the weather was fine and the sea smooth, says the Washington Star. The waterspout formed between a russet-gray cloud and the sea nearly five miles from the ship. At first the distance between the base of the cloud and the surface of the sea was 4,000 feet and the width of the column tapered from 500 feet at its juncture with the cloud to 150 feet at the sea. The vortex appeared to be a tube with tapering sides and a central column. The walls seemed to consist of water moving downward and the central column of water ascending. The phenomenon lasted for 13 minutes. The walls broke and the central column appeared to ascend into the cloud.

Origin of Coal.

After an exhaustive study of a number of coal seams, James Lomax concludes that almost all had their origin in vegetable matter deposited on the spot, the coal substance being formed by the dropping of leaves, twigs, barks and fruits, in the shape of seeds and fructiferous cones mainly from large trees.

Winsome Outfit to Be Among Spring Fashions

Here is shown a dainty frock which is promised for early spring wear. While the decorations are very simple, they are winsome.

Sleeveless One-Piece Frock Is Comfortable

Among the novelties that will appeal to the woman who likes to be comfortable is the sleeveless one-piece frock. This is an easy slip-on affair, cut straight and trimmed, possibly, with braid, embroidery or buttons. It is worn with a shirt of silk, chiffon or muslin having whatever style of front makes for becomingness. It is a dress which, more than any lately shown, promises to be satisfactory, and it is equally well done in kaska, poret twill, Rodier material, velvet or silk.

The line of the neck is cut low, almost to the belt in front, high at the back, and under the arms is open almost to the waistline. This model is shown in a wide striped material of brown and beige that is showy and smart, and is worn with a blouse of ivory crepe with long sleeves and a finely plaited ruffle of the crepe down the front and at the wrists.

Stripes, wide and narrow, and checks and plaids are fashionable in these clothes, equally for town or the resorts. Whether or not they will be seen in the later models remains to be discovered.

The kilt is quite as fashionable as the plain skirt and is exceedingly smart when a jacket of contrasting color is worn. In one snappy little suit a plaited skirt of bright plaid goods is combined with a black velvet coat, quite short and boxy, with side pockets and cuffs, which are trimmed with Hercules braid. The blouse is a fine bit of lingerie with a jabot of muslin and Irish lace.

Variety of Ties for All Kinds of Service

Never before have ties appeared in such a versatile and effective assortment in feminine wardrobes. From the narrow little black grosgrain bow and streamer under the white organdie collar of a black silk day frock, to the Lady Jane tie in brilliant plaids that has a looped passageway around the back of the neck and down the side-front to the skirt hem, there are ties to add interest to any daytime outfit. The owner of a white silk broadcloth overblouse with the convertible collar enjoys having two or three ties to suit her hats and moods. One is of very narrow red velvet ribbon that swings down quite low before it ties in a prim little bow without streamers. Another one is of five-inch brilliantly-figured ribbon that is gathered on to a large clasp at each end, like fur clasps, and snaps together in the front below the waistline. A beige flannel Palm Beach frock has ties and pocket handkerchiefs to match—green moire ribbon with a green print pongee kerchief, narrow carnation red satin ribbon with a polka dot handkerchief.

Victorian Pantalettes New Vogue in London

Victorian pantalettes, flimsy feminine creations in gold and silver gauze, are beginning to appear below the hems of the newest dance frocks offered by London shopkeepers. They are to be worn under the semi-Victorian ball dresses which are the height of fashion there.

The pantalettes match the color of dress and slippers, and some of them are decorated with knots of colored ribbons and tiny bunches of satin flowers. The style has resulted from so many Victorian revivals on the London stage. A dozen plays have been presented this year in which the picturesque costumes of that period have been worn.

Buckle is important. No item of dress is more important at the moment than the buckle. In the first place, it is often put, not at the belt, but somewhere on the large collar, which many tailored frocks affect. And, in the second place, it is frequently a matter of embroidery rather than of metal.

Origin of Old Phrase

It is said the phrase "Throwing sand in their eyes" had its origin in a curious circumstance.

The tale comes from the south of Siberia, where the landscape consists principally of sand. For centuries this country was inhabited by hostile tribes and primitive "running" methods of horseback warfare.

And it is related of these people that one of their principal weapons in pursuit of an enemy was their native sand, which they tossed at him, with the result, if the aim was good, of at least temporary bewilderment and blindness.—Detroit News.

Flower 12 Inches Across.

A flower blooms on a tree of great size and strength growing in the sides of Mount Agua, a high peak near the volcano of Fuego among the mountains of Central America. The blossom measures about 12 inches across. It gets its name from the fact that the Indians believe that the crater of this volcano is the entrance to hell and that the flower is a native of that region. The flower is dark brown in color.

Putting an Egg in a Bottle.
An egg may be put into a bottle which has a mouth much smaller than the egg, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. First soak the egg in vinegar until the shell becomes soft and pliable. It will then be easy to force the egg into the bottle. Pour cold water into the bottle and allow it to remain until the shell becomes hard again. The bottle can then be shown to friends, who are certain to be greatly mystified by the sight of an egg in such a place.

The White House.
John Adams was the first president to occupy the White House, in 1800. In those days it was gray, having been built of Virginia free stone. After the British burned it in 1814, white paint was used to cover the marks of the fire, and since that time this paint has been renewed regularly. The White House grounds within the iron fence contain 19 acres, while the adjoining White House lot has 70 acres.

KEWPIE DOLLS FREE.
The Elks will distribute kewpie dolls and anyone is eligible to enter the dressing contest. Three cash prizes will be given. The first prize for the best dressed, $5; second, $3; and third, $2. Churning in Winter Can Be Made Easier

Temperature and Thorough Souring Important.

"The difficulty experienced by farm butter makers in winter churning may be reduced by following three simple practices," says the dairy specialist at the New Jersey State College of Agriculture.

"One of these is to raise the temperature of the cream to 72 degrees Fahrenheit, 24 hours before churning, and maintain this temperature until the cream becomes thick, sour, and glossy. Thorough souring enables the acid bacteria to produce enough lactic acid to make the casein brittle and easily separated from the butterfat. This temperature, however, is too high for churning, as it makes a soft butter, so the cream should be cooled to 63 degrees Fahrenheit, two hours before being placed in the churn.

"Another practice often found helpful is to feed linseed meal, gluten feed, silage, and roots to cows that have been in milk for several months. Such feeds reduce the foaming tendency of the cream produced by these cows. Cottonseed meal makes a hard fat and for this reason should be fed sparingly to cows whose cream is difficult to churn.

"A third way to prevent foaminess and make churning easier is to throw a handful of salt in the churn before starting it.

"Dry feeds may cause difficult churning. Succulent feeds like roots and silage tend to overcome this trouble."

Each Horse Should Have His Individual Collar

It is important that each horse have his own individual collar. Only rarely are two horses' shoulders just alike and when the collar becomes set to one horse's shoulders it should not be worn by another.

Usually in the spring, the horse that has been idle will be very fat. When fitting a collar to him, it will be necessary to fit the collar to the neck as you find it, for if you do not, you may injure the horse before he has become thin from working. The only thing you can do after he loses flesh is to put a sweat pad under the collar or get a new collar.

The old straight-sided collar will fit some horses, but the majority of them it will not. The reason for this is plain; how many horses that you know have a flat, even surface from the top of the neck to the bottom along either side? The proper method of building a collar is to build it to fit this contour of the neck. The collar should be long enough that the hand can be inserted between it and the bottom of the horse's neck and forced through to the wrist without any pressure.

It should be wide enough just below the top of the neck that it will admit the fingers of the hand comfortably. This width from top to bottom of the collar should be maintained. The collar, when placed on the neck, should fall loosely into place; if it has to be pushed into place it is too tight. If there is too much movement of the collar from side to side, it will cause injury, as it will if it is too long or too short. To test the collar grasp the top in one hand and hold it tightly against the shoulder; then grasp the throat of the collar in the other hand and work it from side to side; if the play is more than two inches, it is too large.

The collar should be used a few times while the animal is doing very light work, to break it in. A good leather collar will produce less shoulder trouble than a poor one. At night the sweat and dirt should always be scraped off, and if necessary, sponged off, as it must always have a smooth surface.—G. H. C., Iowa.

Pruning Cherry Trees Is Aid in Harvesting

The cherry probably receives less pruning than any other fruit in New York state. The fruit men at the state college at Ithaca say this is advisable while the trees are young, with both sweet and sour varieties. Pruning will not improve the growth or increase the amount of fruit borne, they declare.

Cherries are rather an expensive crop to harvest, however, and for this reason most growers like to keep the trees low. When they have reached such a height that the fruit cannot be conveniently picked from a low step-ladder, it is desirable to begin to cut the taller branches back to side branches in the top, and to thin out some of the growth in the upper center of the tree.

If this is done every year, or every other year, it will not only keep the tree within bounds but will result in stronger and healthier wood and fruit spurs.

Sweet cherries which tend to continue a strong central leader growth, after the first few years can well have the leader cut back to a lateral branch to discourage such rapid upward development.

Things to Remember in Keeping Farm Accounts

Three things should be kept in mind in keeping farm accounts. First, enter every expense or receipt item. Second, enter each item in its proper place—expenses on the left hand pages and receipts on the right hand pages. Third, make the entry clear and complete so that you can tell exactly what it is when you refer to it later and have forgotten the details and possibly the entire transaction.

Florida's Exceptional Climate.
Throughout Florida there is more rain in the summer than in the winter. The rainy season begins and ends a little earlier in the western part than in the eastern part of the state. The dryness of the winters is an important factor in making Florida an ideal winter resort. By far the greatest part of the summer rain comes in the daytime in the form of brief showers, which cool the air.

Furs and Climates.
The furs of animals whose habitat is in warmer countries is not so durable, does not form as good leather and is less supple than the furs from the animals living in colder climates.

Protect Fresh Concrete Before Water Evaporates

If newly placed concrete is left exposed to the wind and sun, before it has had time to harden, some of the water, which is necessary to harden it, will evaporate. Water is necessary to hardening of concrete, a chemical action goes on.

Thus floors and walks ought to be covered with earth and kept moist for about 10 days. This is common practice in concrete road construction.

Sand, gravel, cement, and water can be heated in winter and finished concrete covered with canvas with excellent results.

Most Sensitive Instrument

The most sensitive instrument yet made is the bolometer, originally invented by Langley, which is used for measuring variations in the radiation of heat. It registers to a millionth of a degree. The heart of it is a platinum wire so thin that it cannot be seen except when a ray of bright light is reflected from it.

Help for Ironing Day.
Do not discard old mats and carpets. Cover the mats with the best part of the carpet, and make into a pad to stand on while ironing. This will be found very restful to the feet. One of these pads placed at the bottom of the cellar steps, on which to wipe the shoes, will help to keep the steps clean and thus save much labor.

A Three-Century Wink.

Spica, which is placed a few degrees to the right of Mars, and has a distinctly bluish tinge, is so remote that its light takes three and a quarter centuries—325 years—to reach us. Thus the light which we now see issuing from the star left it towards the close of the reign of Queen Elizabeth!

Put Ear to Odd Uses.
Burmese men and women delight in ear ornaments. The lobe of the ear is bored with a hole of astonishing size, and in it various articles are worn—pieces of wood, jewels, or rolls of solid gold or silver. When no ornaments are in the ears, the men often put their cigars, or any other small article in frequent use, through them, and the women use the holes for bouquet holders.

Infringement Resented.

In New Guinea each tribe has its own particular system of tattooing the body, and should a member of any other tribe imitate the pattern, it is regarded as quite a sufficient reason for a declaration of war between the two tribes.

RAT KILLING

War of Extermination Begins in Circleville Monday, February 11.

Women are traditionally afraid of mice, but there is nothing in either Webster or Hoyle to prevent two pretty girls from giving Old Man Rat a whack over the head. That's just what Miss Anna Mae Wright and Miss Helen Caldwell are going to do in Circleville.

These charming misses arrived the other day for the sole purpose of exterminating Circleville's rodent population. Their campaign has received the commendation of city officials, of social and civic organizations and of the public at large. Thru the co-operation of city officials and the public, Miss Wright and Miss Caldwell propose to scientifically rid Circleville of every one of her 16,000 rats.

In a proclamation today, Mayor G. M. Fitzpatrick designated ten days, beginning February 11, as special rat-killing days in Circleville and urges the people to cooperate in an organized effort of rat extermination.

"Every person living in the city of Circleville supports in comfort and luxury at least two rats," Miss Anna Mae Wright declared today. "The destruction done in your city annually by rats will exceed $29,000. By reasonable computation your city, with 8,000 inhabitants has 16,000 or more rats.

Miss Wright has won national fame as a rat exterminator. Her assistant Miss Caldwell, is also an expert battler against the rodent tribe. They use barium carbonate powder, which is obtainable at drug stores.

Following is Mayor Fitzpatrick's proclamation:

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION.

Setting Aside Days For the Killing of Rats.

Since it has been estimated by expert authorities that some 16,000 rats are living in the city of Circleville, that the cost of each rat to the city is $1.82 per year, or $29,000 per year for the total 16,000 rats, and since Miss Anna Mae Wright and Miss Helen Caldwell, experts in the art of killing rats, are in the city for the purpose of ridding it of these pests which are also dangerous to the health of the people and most unsanitary.

Therefore, I, G. M. Fitzpatrick, mayor of the city of Circleville, Ohio, do set apart the TEN DAYS FROM MONDAY FEBRUARY 11th to February 21st as Rat Killing days in and for the city of Circleville, to be observed as such by the placing of poison, or any other means which will rid the city of rats

Given under my hand this the 9th day of February, 1924.

G. M. FITZPATRICK

Mayor, City of Circleville, Ohio.
